

Birth of Venus

Credits

Designer: Sidharth Gopisetty

Model: Riya Narayan

Photographers: Thrisha Senthilnathan & miscellaneous

Inspired by the movement of Riya and her versatility, I designed this dress to move with the model as she walked down the runway. The top is meant to emulate a pearl as the caped portions opens up to reveal the model. The dress begins completely folded with which the model is not visible then the dress opens and embraces the model, or the “pearl.” The dress took over 20 yards of organza and the capa was boned with acrylic to create movement and drama.

- Organza and acrylic boning
- Satin sculptured top

